PARAGRAPHIC ODDITIES.

A profane apostrophe—this man who Mind your own business well, and

Other people's will be well taken care of.

Never dispute with an old man, nor with a woman, or any sort of an adversary.

Contracts made on Sunday can not be enforced. A contract with a minor or insane is void.

Do not imagine that the appearance of sadness indicates anxiety; it may mean hypocrisy.

Be severe to yourself and indulgent to others, and you will avoid all re-sentences. —[Confucius]

"Speaking of the dead languages, professor," inquired the new student,

"who killed them?"

Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego are the only three gentlemen on record who ever ran a furnace fire successfully.

Choose the course which you adopt with deliberation; but when you have adopted it, then persevere in it with firmness.

We do not wish to bore any one with our remarks, but we will like to be permitted to ask in all candor, what sort of snobs do play it?

Whenever you can afford a man who distrusts everybody, you have found one whom it is safe for everybody to distrust. —[Billings]

PITH AND POINT.

Widows and widowers ought to be re-printed.

Finest men's words are as good as their bonds.

We know what we are; but know not what we may be.

Every dog has his day; but the night belongs to the cat.

When a man goes out of the pantry business, he tears the tattered bagging down.

The police are being remanded.

But what's the use of it? They are catch anything.

A mule's head does not contain a brain capable of culture and high reasoning, but it is wonderful how it can extend the other end of its term of life.

A witness in court was asked if he had ever seen a man with a pistol in his pocket. He answered:

"No, he had not; but he had seen one at sixty days' credit, that told the truth for cash."

A countryman who was giving in his evidence in a London court the other day, was asked by counsel if he was born in wedlock. "No, sir,"

he was born in New York.

FABLES.

New York Sun.

Crisis are very fashionable.

New opera cloaks are of shaded pleth.

Buttlin gloves are no longer fashionable.

It is not the correct thing to wear tight gloves.

China crapes scarfs are accessories for ball toilets are in demand.

Buttless, loose-wristed gloves take the precedence of all others.

Eastern combinations of Oriental clothes grow in fashionable favor.

The hair in Paris, is dressed less flat and higher than it was last year.

With ball toilettes are worn dozens of ribbons set with precious stones.

Puffs of crimped tulle are the proper trimmings for widows' caps.

Gold, silver and jeweled baselines are worn around the head for full dress for balls.

White muslin petticoats are the only endergarments that are made further formerly.

Fashionable young ladies who need to call for five and one-half kids

now ask for "sizzles."

The favorite artificial flowers of the season are Parma violets, roses, chrysanthemums and pinks.

Newly imported French underwear of all kinds fit the form as close as possible to be comfortable.

Gloves to be fashionable must be loose in the hands and fingers, but tightly wrinkled around the wrist.

Violette and white, mingled with flowers, are worn down the front of dresses for ceremonious occasions.

While flowers have become things of the past on winter "bonnets," they are worn to excess on evening toilets.

Cloaks of satin de Lyon, with shirred yokes, are rapidly coming in vogue.

Fur bands and collars are the trimmings.

White Chiffon is the latest edge of fashion, and is being immensely worn.

Unlabeled

the hands, light and airy, the wrists, take precedence of all others for evening wear.

The large straight cloaks, with shirred yokes, which are coming in,

have elbow sleeves formed of the fullness of the garment and bordered with deep fur bands.

Berthas or visieres of artificial flowers are made to fit the neck of dresses, to meet what the shape may be, and are finished on the shoulders with bonquets or sprays of flowers.

Young widows wear "Pansies" of bebe caps of satin, with or without but, twenty-eight days. This phenomenon occurs only once in twenty years, and is the only instance.

THE SOUTH KENTUCKIAN.

CHAS. M. MEACHAM, EDITOR.

HOPKINSVILLE, FEB. 13, 1881.

Yesterday was the day for the birds to mate.

"I am in-sine, spare my life, as Col. Buford would say," remarked the fish when caught in the net.

Some people read an editor's paragraphs as carefully as if it didn't snarl him held headed to write them.

The train carrying Sara Bernhardt passed Bowling Green last week. The editor of the Gazette says he and she were both on it at the same time.

W. H. Miller, of Henderson county, has had his name changed to L. Allen Simon Clerk and the Reporter speaks of him as the "late Mr. Miller."

The boy who broke his mother's mirror thought he ought not to be whipped because the Bible says "Blessed is the peacemaker."

The dead lock in the Pennsylvania Senatorial race still continues. Oliver and Grow have both withdrawn and still no one has been elected.

The Frankfort Yonson pays this well merited compliment to our able Representative, in Congress:

Hon. Jas. A. McKee is at the top in Washington in spite of his health. He is one of the most popular men in Congress.

Col. W. C. Breckenridge will deliver an address at Helm Hall, Louisville, Ky., to the Danvers General Literary Society, of Louisville College Feb. 22nd. As a senator Col. Breckenridge has no equal in Kentucky and but few anywhere.

The Owensboro Messenger & Examiner has a story headed "Love in West Virginia." The story is probably based upon some of the experiences of the Kentucky press gang, "one of whom this scribbler was" at White Sulphur Springs last summer.

Stuart and Quisenberry, both editors and candidates for the Legislature in Clark county, are carrying on a bitter personal warfare. Quisenberry was arrested last week and put in jail, on failing to give bond to keep the peace. It they have not already had the personal encounter thing point decidedly that way.

The Columbus Times cheerfully calls the editor of this paper "that young Solon," because he does not bow down and worship Oscar Turner. Without meaning to retort in school boy fashion "you're another," we will mildly suggest that those who sent Turner to Congress thinking him a statesman, are all "old uns."

The long talk of marriage of the Baroness Burdett-Coutte, of London to the young American Ashmead Bartlett took place last Saturday. The bride is 36 and the groom is less than half her age. The latter at the request of his wife will assume the name of Burdett-Coutte.

The result of the investigation of the bribery cases in the Tennessee Legislature is not likely to pan out anything. Thus far Littleton has failed to prove what he claimed to be able to prove and the excitement has about died away.

The votes of the several States for President were counted by Congress in joint session last Wednesday and Garfield officially elected President of the United States, for the next four years, beginning March 4, 1881. The electoral vote of Georgia was not counted on the day appointed by law and was therefore thrown out.

The Covington Commonwealth wants the government to make an appropriation for the improvement of the fishing. For the benefit of the fishing schools we will explain that the fishing referred to is a river of that name in this State, and not the system of corporal punishment which is one of the stern realities of boyhood.

The Guthrie Gazette tells how a gentleman of that vicinity, mistook the singing of a crowd of serenaders for the warbling of Thomas cats and scattered them with a pole, which he threw in the direction of the music. The mistake was discovered, the gentlemen invited into the parlor and in the society of their sweethearts, they soon forgot the cat-atrophe.

The Indiana Legislature is all torn to pieces over a compulsory education bill. It provides that no child shall be sent to school even if the State has to keep up their parents as well as educate the children. It furthermore provides that all children, irrespective of color, shall be educated together. The bill is a pernicious one and is meeting with great opposition from the Democrats as well as many Republicans, but still fears are entertained that it will pass the House.

Doubts have arisen as to the nativity of Vice-President elect Arthur, it having been charged with some show of proof that he was born in Canada and consequently is not a citizen of the United States, which would make him ineligible to the office to which he has been elected. A Senate Committee of investigation has been appointed to look into the matter and if the report is found to be true he cannot assume the office of Vice-President.

STATE NEWS.

Kentucky has 127 newspapers.

Chas. Reed has received the Democratic nomination for Mayor of Paducah.

The Madisonville Times wants Hopkins county people to use shot guns to protect themselves from lightning rod agents.

The Times complains of the bad condition of the plank walks in Madisonville.

The Mountain Sentinel says H. C. Hendon will shortly begin the publication of a paper at Hazelgreen to be called the Herald.

Two lads living near Louisville, found the corpse of a negro named Lawrence, half buried in a marsh, where he had been for several weeks.

Three convicts in the penitentiary have cut off fingers to escape labor.

The Banner says a little boy named Frank Thomson was thrown from a horse in Caldwell county and killed.

The Breckinridge News calls Tom Buford the appellate judge eradicator.

A negro named Beard shot another named Jackson in Hancock county last week inflicting a serious wound.

Mr. Furell, the Covington Postmaster made good his son's deficit and will be retained.

Capt. C. T. Allen will be a candidate for re-election to the Legislature, from Caldwell county.

The citizens of New Castle held a meeting, protesting against unjust freight discriminations.

A new paper called the Central Courier has just been started at Nicholasville by Sam Owen.

A coal oil lamp explosion caused the wife of S. D. Lewis of Scott county, to be burned to death.

The friends of Henry Grief, of Paducah, have come to grief from his mysterious disappearance.

The Winchester Star, according to the Louisville Post, stole some of its own best items and reproduced them in the State News column clipped without credit from that paper.

The Covington Commonwealth thinks that the special court that granted Buford a new trial "was wholly unimpaired by respectable legal opinion."

Wm. Raford, a negro convict working on the Big Sandy Railroad in Owensville attacked a guard with a club breaking his arm in an attempt to escape and was shot dead.

An Ashland man, according to the Express, will fast two weeks. "He will lay on his back and take no nourishment except sweetmilk."

Alex Taylor and J. W. Meacham, editors of the two Fulton papers, the Fultonian and the Index, met in Paducah one day last week and had a fight in the opera house. Meacham, according to the Enterprise, was under the influence of liquor and was the aggressor.

Tou Stinat, in a card in his paper the Democrat, denounces his opponent for the Legislature and contemporary editor, Mr. Quisenberry of the Sun as a "liar and cowardly puppy," and claims that the latter has slandered him time and again in the canvass now being conducted.

Geo. Pieratt and his sister, an aged couple living alone near Owensville. The sister is an invalid and one day last week the brother fainted and fell into the large old fashion fire place, where a hot fire was burning. She dragged herself to him and pulled him from the fire a corpse and then fainted away. The next morning they were found the sister benumbed and helpless and the cats had been eating the flesh of the corpse of the brother.

The advertising sharpers abroad in the land are turning some fine contributions to our waste basket. A proposition from one of them to give a $5 liver pad for $15 in advertising was filed therein.

FAIRVIEW.

The early birds catch the worms. At last two or three bright summer days make one dream of spring.

Our "town daks," are going to build a lock up, to take care of the unfortunate ones who are so unlucky as to need their care.

"O winter, wilt thou never go. O summer how I weary for thy coming."

The young man who said our town was improving, is dead now.

Merit always has envy snapping and snarling at it.

The more favor you show some folks, the more they expect.

Happy is he who has a large pile of wood and no neighbors to borrow.

"Dillion," correspondent to the Nashville American from this place, says there is some talk of a narrow gauge railroad from this place to Clarksville. Pray who is "Dillion," and where did he get his information.

I am glad to hear that Mrs. J. J. Shaw, who has been quite ill, is improving and that there is a probability of her getting well.

"Dillion" says "tobacco opens up flat," that's the first I had heard of it, thanks Mr. D. for the information.

Mr. Editor, I echo every word you said about the Buford trial. My opinion is that such trials are only making farce and noise, and the sooner the people and the press speak their sentiments about such the safer will be a man's life.

I regret very much to hear of the serious illness of Miss Bonnie Wilkins, who has been quite sick for some time. I understand that her recovery is doubtful.

Janua are ripening in this section. H. B. Gray returned home to his many friends after spending a month or six weeks visiting Louisville, Cincinnati, New York and Nashville, on business. Harry is one of the jolly boys of our town and we felt his absence greatly.

The farmers are busy stripping and pruning tobacco in this section of country. The crop is rather small, but of a superior quality.

GENERAL NEWS.

Garfield will be inaugurated on "bangum's day" Friday.

148 deaths from small-pox were reported in New York city on the 5th.

Mrs. J. E. Nicholls jumped into a well and suicided at St. Louis.

Small-pox is raging in New Jersey to an alarming extent.

U. S. Senator elect Jackson of Tennessee has resigned his seat in the State Legislature.

A railroad bridge is to be built over the Ohio river at Henderson or Evansville sometime during the present year.

The local option bill has been defeated in the Ohio Legislature.

A destructive tornado swept over New Orleans Thursday blowing down the Palmetto Hotel among other buildings.

Jas. N. Edwards shot and killed Jas. Champine, at Paris Tenn., for attempting to beehive his wife. The lady reported the improper proposal, to her husband.

Four murderers will dangle from the end of a rope at Santa Fe, N. M. on the 23d inst.

A lad 15 years hung himself at Milwaukee to escape a lashing for having stolen $5 from his father.

Peter Polkey a murderer was hanged at Helena Mon., on the 6th inst. He murdered and robbed his employer, named Lacke, of a large sum of money.

A boy who is believed to be the veritable long lost Charlie Ross has been found at Ontario Can. He remembers being abducted by two men while he was playing the streets of a large city, and placed in a tribe of Tuscarora Indians until he escaped, recently, and is now living with a man named Bond. He is about thirteen years old and is a flaxen haired "gawky" youth about four feet tall.

J. A. Coleman a prominent lawyer and Chas. H. Lucas and wife of Evansville entered into a plot to defraud an insurance company. Lucas was to tell over board a steamer, to be drowned apparently, to win a share in reality and get a large amount of insurance money. The plot was carried out but the insurance companies investigated before paying the money and the game was detected and all hands arrested.

Cheap Excursion to New Orleans.

The Louisville & Nashville Railroad will sell round-trip excursion tickets from Hopkinsville to New Orleans, commencing February 19th and continuing until February 27th, at the extremely low rate of $21.00. Tickets are good returning until March 1st.

Now is your opportunity to witness the great "Mardi Gras Carnival," on which New Orleans will this year expend a fabulous amount of money, and present a series of parades, pageants and entertainments, never equalled in splendor and attractiveness in this country. The "carnival" opens with a grand military parade February 22d, in which a large number of visiting organizations participate, followed February 24th by a street parade of the "Knights of Momus," February 25th, arrival and reception of His Majesty, Rex; March 1st, Mardi Gras—a magnificent day of the King of the Carnival, Phrygian Flutists, King Owls, etc.; night, gorgeously illuminated street parade of the world-famous "Mardi Gras of Momus."

"For excursion tickets and further information apply to Station Ticket Agent."

LINTON.

I will give you a sketch of this part of the country.

The health of the community is very good, only one death in the last month or two. Mr. Tom Turner died with pneumonia last week.

Dr. Johnson and family, from Clarksville, have moved to their farm near Canton, on the river.

Mr. Morgan Hopson and Miss Deale, left not long since for Clarksville as students.

The charming young lady Miss Ida McNichols is teaching school here. The firm of Whitlock & McNichols have dissolved partnership in the mercantile business.

The river has been very high this winter, and boats have had plenty to do. They have been delayed some time on account of ice.

This part of the country is very rough; the lands are very productive, but we need a few of Christian county's energetic farmers to till the soil of Cumberland river bottoms.

Linton is a business point; we have three dry-goods stores, one grocery, two saloons, a drug store and a hotel.

Dr. Johnson's son from Washington city was in our town on a visit to his parents a short time since; has returned.

Mr. and Mrs. Combs, of Church Hill neighborhood, were down last week on a visit to Mr. J. W. Dewes.

MACEDONIA.

The farmers have been busy stripping out their tobacco for the past few days.

Mr. Dave P. Poole's little child fell head foremost into the fire a few days since and was seriously burnt.

Wanted, to swap a half dozen short sheepskins for a pair of good gentle stiffs.

While carrying a very heavy sack of wood a few days since Mr. Baker the ex. assessor of Clark county fell and smashed his head very badly.

Mrs. Jane Conner died at the residence of Mr. Columbus Gladish near Castleberry church last Friday. She died of pneumonia.

Another hymenial item in Caldwell. At the residence of the bride's father near Friendship, W. C. Rucker to Miss Nancy C. Robinson.

Miss Mary Olson, of this place who has been a ghastly victim of the dreadful consumption for several years, we regret to say is very low down. We fear she will not last long.

ONCE IN 200 YEARS.

The Knoxville Chronicle has discovered that the year 1800 will be leap year, and yet February will contain but twenty-eight days. This phenomenon occurs only once in 200 years, and always in the odd hundred.
